PLAYED ROULETTE ARGUMENT MADE BY CAR LAWYER

which fluctuates in price, and carrying on the books under the name of "The Jollies of 1929," which is a book of 100 pages, all of which are of more or less doubtful value. Mr. Quinn has no guarantee of return, while under the terms of the contract of the state public utilities commission a guaranteed return is provided for the owners of the Memphis street railway company.

My company has no contract under the terms of which it agreed to sell its service or its goods at a certain price to the people of Memphis, but the Memphis Street Railway company has such a contract, and one of the provisions of the franchise above referred to is that the Memphis Street Railway company shall pass passengers for a fare not exceeding five cents. That contract still has 25 years to run.

"During the early years of that contract the Memphis Street Railway company could have earned large dividends and may have done so, in which event the entire amount could have been kept by the owners of the company, but now, when the claim conditions have been changed, the Memphis Street Railway company is in a position of having a law passed creating the state public utilities commission, which commission has been given the right to set aside a certain part of the contract, to wit: the fare which the Street Railway company can charge the people of Memphis. Other provisions of the contract are still in effect, but the state public utilities commission has the right to change the very important vital part of that contract.

Will Carry Fight to Limit.

"When I am a representative of the people of Memphis elected to such proceedings, I am informed first by the state public utilities commission that I am not competent to discuss the subject of street car operation, management and cost because I am ignorant of such subjects, and this statement is issued by Mr. Quinn in his own right. He says that the state public utilities commission after thorough investigation reached just conclusion of all issues.

"The facts are that Mr. Quinn, a member of the state public utilities commission, attended none of the hearings in connection with the Memphis Street Railway company case. Therefore, he did not have the benefit of this fund of information to which Mr. Quinn is now referring, and following Mr. Quinn's argument Mr. Quinn, as well as myself, was, therefore, not competent to pass upon the subjects at issue.

"Mr. Quinn, chairman of the commission, attended all hearings and favored seven-cent fare. Mr. George N. Welch, the third member of the commission, attended all hearings and favored seven-cent fare, but as between Mr. Quinn and Mr. Welch, the only one competent to judge according to Mr. Quinn, there was an even break, so I had as much right to feel that my position against any fare over six cents has been indicated as Mr. Quinn's position in favor of his seven-cent fare has been indicated.

"When this matter first came to my attention I recognized that I would have denied responsibility absolutely, and I would have said that the matter was absolutely in the hands of the state public utilities commission, but being that a seven-cent fare is not warranted and that it amounts to an outrage upon the people of Memphis, I have thrown myself into the fight with all earnestness and with all promptness to render a sincere service to the people of Memphis, and I serve notice that I shall resist in any and every way at my command a seven-cent fare.

STATE BOARD ASKED TO DELAY OPINION

W. P. Armstrong, city attorney, acting for Mayor Payne and the city administration, has asked Col. H. A. Egan, chairman of the state board of public safety, to delay giving his opinion on the Memphis street car fare case until some new evidence can be presented. He had received no direct reply Monday at noon, although a dispatch from Nashville Sunday said the application would be held in abeyance until the commission had already decided on a seven-cent fare in Atlanta.

Mayor Payne Monday learned that T. H. Tutwiler, president of the company, and F. S. Egan, co-receiver with Mr. Tutwiler, had been in Nashville since Saturday morning conferring presumably with the majority members of the state commission on the preparation of the opinion in the Memphis case. A. C. Richey, traction expert representing the state commission, was to be in Nashville Monday.

QUINN GETS READY FOR G. O. P. JOB BY HANDLING "BLACK FACES"

Mr. Charles
QUINN.
INTERLOCUTOR
MISS
IMA JAZBABY

Charles Quinn never believes in letting his hand grow unpracticed nor his ability for handling shows to grow stale from lack of experience.

With the performance of making the Republican elephant in West Tennessee jump through the ring only a short time off, the former police commissioner will practice handling "black-face comedians" in the hands of the "Jollies of 1929," his minstrel performance at the Lyric theater all next week.

To be sure all the politicians whom Charlie must handle this fall will not be of the black-face variety, but because of the complexion of the majority of the party in West Tennessee, his colored men were concerned. It added that no difference of opinion existed between the majority of naval officers and Secretary Daniels regarding the decoration of officers who lost ships during the war.

Capture Boy In Armory Drill Hall

Caught by Capt. A. C. Parker in the armory drill hall, at Main street and Washington avenue, Sunday night, James J. Brown, 26, 243 North Main street, was held at the point of the officer's pistol until police were summoned. They lodged a charge of house-breaking against Brown.

Having a nose upstairs and getting no response when he called out, Capt. Parker, pistol in hand, went up the fire escape and confronted Brown when the latter stepped out of the fire escape door.

Bolling Sibley Starts Drive for Funds With Gift of $100.

The first subscription received Monday at campaign headquarters of the Catholic Club building association, 26 South Main street, was a voluntary gift of $100 from Bolling Sibley, Mr. Sibley's first vice-president of the Memphis Y. M. C. A.

Sam M. Williamson, general chairman of the campaign to obtain for the Catholic Club building to be erected at Adams avenue and North Third street, arrived at headquarters early and started the 400 team members on the drive.

Subscriptions reported included one from J. J. Wade, $100; another for $200 from the Dominican Fathers of St. Peter's church. Other early gifts were: Eugene J. Lufkin, $50; Tom Wade, $200; J. G. Metz, $200; Eugene Wade, $200; J. P. Walsh and James B. Collier, $100 each; R. Hoffman, $500; J. E. Mace, $200; M. E. Carter, $200; Dr. Frank B. Howe, $100; L. M. Hall, $50; J. J. Sibley, $200.

The first delivery of mail at the campaign headquarters brought a check for $25 from T. W. Beall, of Como, Miss.

No difficulty is anticipated by Director Williamson in putting over the campaign.

The need of the club building is not debatable, he said. "It is an absolute necessity. The Catholics of Memphis will have the building assured before the end of the present week."

Fifty teams of eight members each are canvassing the city. Reports will be made at 5 o'clock each afternoon.

Coroner Will Take Alleged Murderer To Scene Of Crime

Frank Sawyer, coroner of Girard, Ill., will leave Memphis Tuesday morning, taking with him Victor E. Day, 22, alleged army deserter, who is charged with having shot and killed Guy Harlan, town marshal of Girard, on Feb. 13. Sawyer arrived in Memphis Sunday.

Five men now held in Girard as suspects in connection with the murder of the marshal will hail with delight the news that a man directly accused of the murder has been arrested. Coroner Sawyer said Monday.

Day was arrested here last Friday by Detective Taylor and Durham, who were tipped off that Day was wanted for murder by Richard Shea, who claimed that he was with Day at the time he slew the marshal. Shea claimed that he and Day deserted from the U. S. army at Fort Logan, Col., on Feb. 2.
